Frosh election is slated Wednesday

The Parthenon

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY STUDENT NEWSPAPER

Vol. 69 HUNTINGTON, W. VA. TUESDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1968 No. 24

8 a.m.-4 p.m.
is voting time

The freshmen election will be Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the basement of the Student Union.

Fulltime freshmen may vote upon presenting their I.D. and activity cards. If a student forgets his cards, he may go to the Student Affairs Office and get a letter stating that he is a fulltime freshman which will enable him to vote.

Due to the proximity of national elections, voting machines are not available for the election. Voters will fill out ballots and place them in the ballot box in the rear of the polling place. Voters' activity cards will be stamped both when entering and leaving the polling place.

There are seven candidates running for freshman class president. Last year, there were only two candidates for this office. There are 24 candidates for freshman senate seats.

(See Story Page Five)

Freshmen will elect a class president and seven class senators.

"The percentage of students voting at Marshall has been poor in the past," said Elections Commissioner Mike Robinson, Bel Air, Md., senior. "I hope there will be a large number of freshmen voting."

Results will be ratified at the Student Senate meeting 9 p.m. Wednesday, according to Carey Foy, student body vice president and Huntington senior. Due to freshman elections on Wednesday, the Tuesday Senate meeting will be cancelled.

Scheduled for the meeting will be discussion of the Homecoming parade by Sen. Pam Slaughter, Dunbar junior. Sen. Susan Mead, Irvington, N. J. senior will give an overall Homecoming report.

Constitutional change concerning a tie in any Student Government election will be discussed. "If there is a tie, it'll be broken by the Student body at large," said Foy.

Look at self critically, Focus speaker asserts

"Put yourself on the hot seat! Look at yourself critically and you will see your own identity in a clear light."

This, asserts the dean of students of a small southern college, is "How to Affirm Individuality in a Punch Card Society," his topic Sunday as the first speaker in Focus '68.

William L. Lynch, dean of students at Mars Hill College in Mars Hill, N. C., paraphrased the teachings of Jesus to emphasize the theme of Focus '68, "The Role of the Individual in a Punch Card Society."

Concerned with man's increasing inhumanity to his fellow men, the sponsors of Focus '68 asked, "What is the true measure of man?" Is he simply becoming a total of the computer digits that are assigned to him from birth to death?

Dean Lynch expressed his belief there is more to man than numbers and there are several ways to affirm our individuality.

"Blessed are they that mourn," said Jesus, and after facing reality we could very well do some mourning, Dean Lynch observed. But expression of emotions will help you to better understand yourself, he said.

Dean Lynch said the best way to express yourself is to be yourself and don't try to hide your flaws.

Today at 8 p.m., Prentiss L. Pemberton, educator, psychologist, and professor of social ethics and sociology of religion at Colgate Rochester Divinity School in New York, will present "Facing Communism in a Punch Card Society."

Following the interpersonal side of the Focus Theme, Dr. Pemberton, educator, psychologist, and professor of social ethics and sociology of religion at Colgate Rochester Divinity School in New York, will present "Facing Communism in a Punch Card Society."

An informal discussion will also be conducted by Dr. Pemberton in the Campus Christian Center at 1 p.m. Wednesday on "What Happened at Chicago?" during the Democratic National Convention.

Other speakers this week will be William Stringfellow, 8 p.m. Wednesday, and James Andrews, 8 p.m. Thursday. Each will speak in Smith Hall auditorium.

According to Dr. Stephen Buell, director of Educational radio and television, the RCA bid is a "color package." All programming, except live broadcasts, will be in color.

According to Richard D. Settle, WMUL-TV station manager, installation of the new equipment will begin at the Nitro station in about one month, in the Barker Ridge transmitter in January, and in Huntington late next summer.

Advisory unit begins studies

The Student Advisory Committee has been formed to study questions concerning library services, the National Teachers Examination, class cut policy, appeals on grades via a mediatory board and a fine arts program for the College of Arts and Sciences.

The committee held its first meeting Oct. 2. It was formed by Student Government as a means to let faculty and students consult and advise on various aspects of the academic program and academic related services. It is part of the general system of advisory committees and liaison officers now being implemented this semester to permit direct exchange of views between students, administration and faculty.

ART IS DISPLAYED

An exhibition of gouache, casein and water color paintings is currently on display on sixth floor of Stewart Harold Smith Hall, according to Dr. Arthur S. Carpenter, head of the Department of Art. The display will remain here until Friday and is open to the public. The twenty-four paintings by members of the New Jersey Water Color Society are being circulated on national tour by Old Bergen Art Guild of Bayonne, N. J., and feature character sketches, landscapes, snow, trees, waterlines and farmland.

Students may obtain a registration form for the examination from the Office of the Dean of Teachers College. After the registration form has been accurately filled out, it must be returned to the office of the dean on or before Friday.

There will be a Feb. 1 administration of the National Teacher Examination. Any student failing to take the examination on Nov. 9, will be required to take the February examination to be graduated in May.

All fees required for taking the examination are to be paid by the student.

Themes noted for seminars

There are two Interdisciplinary Honors Seminars on Marshall's campus this year: the honors seminar for upperclassmen and a Freshmen honors seminar.

"Relative and Absolute Morality" and "Contemporary Civilization" are the themes of this year's seminar respectively.

There are, according to T. Duncan Williams, associate professor of English, 15 upperclassmen and 39 freshmen enrolled.

Freshmen were invited to participate in the honors seminar, based on the result of their ACT scores, high school records and a personal interview.

According to Professor Williams, classes are as "unstructured as possible." "Our purpose," he continues, "is to stimulate students to think. Emphasis is placed on their understanding the forces of the world they're going into rather than factual knowledge."

Professor Williams further said he hoped that the seminars would act as a "catalyst" on campus communications as a whole.

DR. RICHARD ARMOUR will address students on "The Satirist and his World" at the convocation Thursday at 11 a.m. in Old Main Auditorium.

United Fund campaign for students to begin

"If you give a damn, give a dollar!" That will be the theme when the Cabell-Wayne United Fund student campaign hits campus Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

Brothers of Zeta Beta Tau fraternity will conduct the on-campus drive in pursuance of a $550 goal. Denny Humrichouser, Ashland, Ohio, sophomore and social service chairman of ZBT says the fraternity will be out in full force attempting to double that figure collected on campus last year.

"Last year the total collected by the Student Government was $281, that's not even a drop in the bucket as far as I'm concerned," he said. "With an enrollment of over 8,000 students that figure should be doubled if not tripled."

"Last year we collected $2,300 in the Belle of Mental Health drive and there is no reason we can't give the same type of treatment to the United Fund."

The United Fund campaign began in Cabell and Wayne county three weeks ago with a "kickoff" dinner held at the clubhouse of Owens - Illinois Glass Co. Keynote speaker for the evening was Marshall President, Roland H. Nelson Jr. During his address Dr. Nelson praised the services performed through the United Fund agencies saying the public takes them for granted. He urged civic responsibility in giving time and money to help these agencies grow.

The 24 health and welfare agencies provide assistance not only for the indigent but in addition they provide training and character-building programs for young people. The YMCA, Boy Scouts, Cammack Children's Center, Cerebral Palsy Clinic, and many others.

The total goal for this year's drive has been set at $503,000, however, this figure is only $19,000 above that collected last year by volunteers throughout

$100 prize money shrinks to $1.50

By JANE BILLMAN
Staff Writer

Miss Maureen B. Milicia, instructor of speech, was a first-place winner in the Greater Huntington Arts Festival, but ended up with only $1.50 of her $100 prize money.

"Every exhibit is automatically for sale," said Miss Milicia, "and the festival gets 10 per cent of the sale price as its exhibition fee."

"I didn't want to sell any of my paintings because I feel they're a part of me and I want people to have them only if I know they really appreciate them. So I tagged them with what I thought were exorbitant prices and relaxed.

"To my amazement, Saturday morning a woman wanted to buy one of them because the colors matched her living room."

"I couldn't tolerate the thought of someone having my painting because it matched a cushion, so I bought every piece back."

This cost her approximately $77, including tax.

Her mother was visiting her and their tickets for the festival's champagne party set her back another $10.

Miss Milicia also entered a one-act play in the literary competition, and the entry fee brought her expenses to a little over $97.

"But I'm not complaining," she emphasized. "I think this Festival is a great thing for Huntington and I was proud to be involved. I am pleased to know that other people enjoy my work."

"I'm idealistic and I didn't get involved for material gain. . ." Glancing at the tabulations showing the shrinkage of her $100, Miss Milicia smiled and said, "and I guess it's a good thing."

Liaison plan ready to start

By SALLY LINEBERGER
Staff Reporter

The Student Government has established a student departmental liaison program aimed at developing a better relationship between students, faculty and administration, according to Bob Gregg, coordinate and Huntington senior.

Each academic department and the administration will have one student departmental liaison, a student majoring in that department who will act as a go-between students and faculty, said Gregg.

A Dean's Council suggested by Dr. Robert Hayes, dean of Teachers College, will consist of the liaisons of each department of a college to meet with the college's dean when necessary.

Each liaison will bring to the department chairman and their faculty any complaint, idea, or problem of any student or group of students. "However, if someone got a low grade, etc., and is just mouthing 'sour grapes', then he does not have a legitimate gripe and shouldn't waste the time of the department," Gregg added. The purpose is to answer questions of students concerning the faculty and of faculty concerning the students, he said.

"This program is necessary. In order to have a smoothly running university, there must be a close relationship between students, faculty, and administration," said Gregg.

Senator Frank Cummings, Huntington senior, had included the idea of a liaison program in his platform when running for student body president last spring before he was disqualified, according to Gregg. Although the program title remained, the program was not formulated until this year by Gregg.

Students have been named as liaisons but Gregg has received no replies. "Hopefully, the program will be operating by the end of October," he said.

Winter program to include concerts

Winter Weekend, a program begun last year by the Student Government, has been replaced by Winter Activities, a series of concerts during the winter, according to Susan Mead, social affairs commissioner.

The weekend program was cancelled because of the unavailability of Memorial Field House for activities.

The first concert of Winter activities is scheduled for Feb. 6, a Thursday evening, with "The Platters" tentatively slated to perform.

All the concerts will be during the week rather than on weekends to give more students a chance to attend.

"If the concerts are during the week, they will be viewed more as an Artists Series type event and people won't feel as though they have to have a date to go," commented Miss Mead. "The week night activities will also avoid conflicting with Greek activities."

Other groups under consideration for the concerts are "The Impressions," "The Marvellettes," "The Dells," "The Intruders," "Delphonics," and "The Esquires."

Miss Mead said probably two groups would play for the same concert.

Homecoming election rules listed

Linda Dorsey, Homecoming election coordinator, has announced the rules for the homecoming queen election Oct. 23. The rules include:

A candidate for queen and attendants must be a full-time female student. She must also be a member of the class that she will be representing. A candidate for queen must be a senior.

Each candidate must submit a record of her campaign expenses and the amount of donations that she has received by 4 p.m., October 23.

Alumni events slated Oct. 26

Alumni activities for Homecoming have been announced by Don Foose, assistant director of alumni affairs.

Oct. 25: A cocktail party and informal get-together 8-11 p.m. at the Frederick Hotel. These events are free and a band will entertain.

Oct. 26: Campus tours will be conducted in the morning; the game with Western Michigan at 1:30 p.m.; after the game the alumni buffet will be held in the cafeteria 5-7 p.m.; and the alumni dance will be held from 9 p.m.-1 a.m. in the Frederick Hotel.

For the dance both the Georgian Terrace and the Bolero Room will be used with a 17 piece orchestra in one and an 11 piece orchestra in the other. Door prizes will be given at the dance.

Tickets for any of the activities are available at the alumni office and reservations can be made through the alumni office.

Redskins on warpath, chanting 'OU, OU'

By JOHN HACKWORTH
Sports Writer

The stands were empty and the stadium quiet, but inside the University of Miami dressing room the chant "OU, OU" swelled to a deafening roar. The Redskins had just beaten Marshall 46-0 and were looking forward to this week's battle with Ohio University for first place in the Mid-American Conference.

Two of the men who helped hand MU its fourth loss in a row were asked their views on the Thundering Herd, their team and this week's game with OU. The conversation was frank and optimistic.

Coach Bo Schembechler, whose team is now 3-0 in the MAC and tied for first with OU, had this to say about Marshall. "They have a problem here. They have to rebuild and this is something that takes time."

"I felt we just had better personnel today. We used all of our men and gave them a chance to play. I also thought Marshall made more mistakes than usual. This helped us."

Schembechler said that his team was really looking forward to the game with OU and felt Miami could win.

Another man who was instrumental in the 46-0 win was Miami fullback Don Wade. Wade scored two touchdowns, scored on a run for a two-point conversion and rolled up yardage for Miami first downs.

Wade, who is a native of Huntington and was all-state at Huntington High, said Marshall had a lot to improve on. "They're young though and they'll come around," he said.

When asked about Miami, he said, "I like it there. We have a great team, great coaches and I think we're the best."

"I really enjoyed playing here today. It was good to be home," Wade continued. "I didn't feel my performance was good. I think I'll do better when my legs improve."

Wade, who was out for two weeks with a bad leg, started in place of MAC rushing leader Cleve Dickerson.

Schembechler said, "Wade played a good game; he's some ballplayer."

This praise was echoed by Marshall Head Coach Perry Moss who called Wade, "a hell of a ballplayer."

Sports comment

By LARRY MAYNOR
Assistant Sports Editor

After Saturday's 46-0 loss to Miami, Marshall fans have probably turned to their football schedules in an attempt to pick the game that will mean victory for MU and an end to the long 16-game losing streak.

If its any consolation the Herd has played its toughest foes in the MAC, Ohio University, Toledo and Miami. But that is not to say the likes of Western Michigan, Bowling Green and Kent State are to be taken lightly.

Perhaps, this week will gave Marshall supporters that long awaited victory. The Herd will entertain the University of Louisville, a team that CAN be beaten.

Redskins dominate game

Reflecting a moment on Saturday's game, it can be said the Redskins dominated the game from beginning to end. In fact there were few bright spots for MU outside of the fine punting effort turned in by Skipper Williams. Williams punted six times for a 43.8 average.

John Oertel, MU's strong armed quarterback, was not up to par. He was intercepted four times and completed only four of 13 passes.

"The quarterbacking was not too good," Coach Perry Moss said, "but a lot can be blamed on the line. Our quarterbacks were not getting the protection they needed." Moss said another factor in MU's poor passing game was double coverage on its receivers.

"They didn't have much respect for our running game. We are going to have to run the ball to win but we couldn't penetrate that tough Miami line."

Marshall gained only 39 yards rushing as compared to 387 for Miami. In the passing department MU didn't do much better. Total yards passing for the Herd was 5 while Miami gained 118 yards via the air.

The whole story could be summed by total yardage: Miami 505, Marshall 91.

Miami has a good if not great football team. This was known before Saturday's disaster, but the hope that MU might do the impossible was dancing in the heads of many MU followers.

Thought Herd was ready

Coach Moss admittedly felt his team was ready for the Redskins.

"I thought we were ready," he said after the game, "but bang all of a sudden we were behind."

And so the story unfolds, Miami jumped off to a quick 7-0 lead and then added four more TD's to give the Redskins a commanding 32-0 halftime lead.

For all practical purposes the ball game ended there. The threat that Marshall had posed was now gone and Miami undoubtedly began thinking of its all important game with OU this Saturday.

The remainder of the game left little to be excited about. The Herd held Miami scoreless in the third quarter, but the Redskins scored their sixth and seventh touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

Miami's coach Bo Schembechler summed the game up best. "We just had better personnel."

No one will doubt Schembechler's statement now. But a similar statement in a year or two seems a little remote.

Moss' rebuilding program is evidenced by his freshmen squad that has rolled to impressive victories over the University of Kentucky freshmen and the yearlings of Dayton, Ohio.

Just give him time.

Freshman lineman described as agile, mobile and hostile

By JAMES M. PRESTON
Teachers College Journalist

Agile, mobile and hostile describe Ron (Mick) Mikolajczyk, Passaic, N.J., freshman.

He's six-feet, four-inches tall, weighs 250 pounds, and runs the 40-yard dash in 4.9 seconds. Mikolajczyk is a football lineman who can run like a back.

Offensively, Mick plays left tackle; defensively, he's either a right tackle or an end. His coaches think he may be a 60-minute player, in the "iron man" tradition of the past, for the Big Green freshman team this season.

Mikolajczyk chose Marshall because, "It was the nearest offer I had to home. The rest came from the West Coast and Rocky Mountain area."

He hasn't formed any definite opinions of MU yet. "Football is all right," he explained, "but I haven't really been here long enough to decide whether I am going to like school or not."

Mikolajczyk, however, has been here long enough to form one definite, if somewhat pessimistic opinion: "I think I am going to flunk English," he says.

The big tackle's pessimism fades when the conversation centers on the frosh team's chances for the season. He predicted a victory in the season opener against the University of Kentucky, and the team made good the forecast, winning 27-16.

"All the guys have a lot of spirit," Mikolajczyk explains.

"The backfield is very good and everybody works well together."

Freshmen basketball team has impressive credentials

By JOHN HACKWORTH
Sports Writer

To have a good college team in any sport, you have to recruit good players. This year's freshmen basketball team hints that the Marshall coaching staff has done just that.

Of the four freshmen scholarship recipients two are high school All-Americans and all gained All-City honors.

Russell Lee, a 6' 5" 200-pound guard-forward, from Dorchester, Mass., has the most impressive credentials. He was a Scholastic All-American, Coach and Athlete All-American, all-state and all-city pick.

"Lee is an example of what Marshall needs to stay competitive in the Mid-American Conference," says Larry McKenzie, freshman coach.

Lee averaged 39 points and 25 rebounds per game during his senior year at Hyde Park High School. "He has the ability to play outside or inside," McKenzie said. "He could play for any college team in the nation." Other schools interested in Lee were Navy, Boston College and UCLA.

Eugene Lee (Russell's brother) a six-footer was all-district and captain of his team in his junior year. He averaged 26 points and eight rebounds a game.

"Eugene has a fine attitude, is quick and willing to learn," McKenzie said.

The other players are Bill Bertalan, 6' 7" 215-pounder, from Hollywood, Fla., and D. J. Jebbia, a 6' 1" guard from Wheeling. "These two boys are more or less recruits of Coaches Johnson and Way. I haven't seen them play yet," McKenzie said.

Jebbia and Bertalan, however, have exceptional records. Jebbia averaged 28 points and 11 rebounds per game as he won all-state, all-Ohio Valley Athletic Conference, Prep All-American and all-Mountainer honors. He set several scoring records at Wheeling High School.

McKenzie said Bertalan was a big asset to MU in more ways than one. The tall Floridian averaged 13.5 points and 18 rebounds per game while winning all-city and all-conference honors. Andy Tonkovich, a former MU All-American basketball player and coach at Bertalan's alma mater pointed Bertalan out to Coach Johnson.

Among the teams on the Little Herd's schedule this year are Morehead State University, Ohio University, Morris Harvey Junior Varsity and Xavier. The frosh will play only 12 games this year due to a new ruling by the MAC limiting the number of freshman games.

Practice starts today and all other freshmen interested in trying out for the team are welcome to attend.

Freshmen eleven thump Dayton, remain undefeated after 2 games

By RON FERGUSON

The Little Herd continued a winning streak Saturday as it downed the Little Flyers of Dayton University, 24-7.

"Our defense was very good," said Pete Kondos, Little Herd coach, "but our offense couldn't seem to get anything going."

Then early in the second quarter, Roger Childers, MU defensive back, blocked a Dayton punt, and linebacker Larry Nelson dived on it in the end zone for a Marshall score.

The next time Marshall had the ball, John Lutes took a Ted Shoebridge pass and went 22 yards for the score.

Dayton took the following kick-off and drove 61 yards behind the passing of Ron Krechting, and the running of Gary Kosins for Dayton's only score of the game.

Marshall took Dayton's kick-off on their own 25, then Ted Shoebridge began a show of his own. Ten plays later Willie Blufford went over to score from a yard out.

Marshall's final score came as Dayton's Krechting attempted to hit half-back Kevin Lynch with a pass. MU's Larry Nelson cut it off, and scooted 27 yards to paydirt.

Kondos praised offensive players John Lutes and Bob Giardino.

Lutes caught three passes for 48 yards and a touchdown, and Giardino carried 20 times and gained 87 yards.

Statistic-wise, Marshall had 18 first downs to Dayton's 15. MU had the edge in rushing 183-61, and total rushing 352 yards to UD's 267.

Marshall scored four times and failed to make an extra point, as they kicked twice and passed for it twice.

The Little Herd goes after its third straight win on Oct. 21 against Xavier in Cincinnati.

Marshall swimmer confident

By DENNY HUMRICHOUER
Sports Writer

"As long as you think you are going to win, you will win."

Dan Rawn, Chattanooga, Tenn., freshman and Marshall University swimmer, feels this is the attitude that the Thundering Herd swim team should and is developing.

"It is not really confidence or pride," said Rawn, "You just think like a winner."

Rawn attended Notre Dame High School in Chattanooga where he participated in football, basketball, and track. During the summer Rawn competed in the Chattanooga Swim League.

A pre-law major, Rawn brings to the MU swim team a lot of enthusiasm and a winning attitude. "I feel confident that we are going to do real well," he said. "I think we can win as many meets as we want to win."

Rawn added that getting depth is important to MU's swimming future.

The Tennessee native praised Coach Robert Saunders. "He knows what he is doing," said Rawn, "You have to respect him because he works with you instead of just instructing."

According to Rawn, the team is making fast progress in workouts.

"The first hour we work on isometrics, exogenic, stretching exercises and pullups," said Rawn. "Then we hit the water."

Talking about Marshall, Rawn said, "I like it being small because you get to meet many more people. Marshall lets you feel like somebody, whereas at a big school you are lost."

Rawn says that "steeper competition" is the big difference in high school and college swimming.

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON — Flashing a hand-printed sign saying "Keep Those Cards and Letters Coming," three Apollo 7 astronauts Monday performed the first live television show from inside a manned U. S. SPACESHIP.

"It really looks good, I'm amazed," Donald K. Slayton, head of the astronaut office here, radioed to the crew.

The crew turned on the television camera at 10:44 a.m. EDT as Apollo 7 sped over the southern United States. Pictures at first were snowy, and Slayton reported the signal was "too weak to read."

After the 4½-pound camera warmed up for about two minutes, however, the astronauts could plainly be seen moving inside Apollo 7. The system required a scan converter to reproduce the pictures.

PERTH, Australia — A severe earthquake hit a wide area around Perth Monday, but first reports said the only casualties were persons cut by broken windows and crockery. A second and less severe tremor occurred an hour later in Perth. Buildings rocked and shuddered, and many developed cracks. The roof of one hotel collapsed and police cordoned off some Perth streets.

PANAMA — Snipers killed two Panama National Guard soldiers in a one-hour battle not far from the presidential palace Sunday night as deposed President Arnulfo Arias called on his supporters to wage "total war" against the military leaders who overthrew him.

Arias, who took refuge in the U. S.-controlled Canal Zone after the coup Friday night 11 days after he took office, predicted there would be "death and desolation" unless the military chiefs who deposed him "leave the places they control."

Guard spokesmen said two guardsmen were killed and no others wounded in the fighting in the downtown Marañon slum district. But newsmen saw three guardsmen and a civilian hit by gun fire.

LONDON — Scotland Yard detectives poked through a mass of charred wreckage Monday trying to determine if protesters against the Vietnam war set fire to Britain's Imperial War Museum.

Fire burned out the 120-foot dome of the museum Sunday night, but an official said most of the priceless collection from the two world wars was saved.

Officials said the fire was the work of an arsonist and was started by two incendiary bombs, one hidden in the dome and the other thrown through a ground-floor window.

WASHINGTON — For the first time, the Army and Marines are sending thousands of men back for involuntary second tours to Vietnam.

The Army plans to return about 18,000 this year, the Marines some 6,000.

Until this year, the number of nonvolunteers ordered to a second round of war service has amounted only to a trickle.

But this has changed because of the length of the war, the high manpower turnover stemming from the one-year duty tour in Vietnam, and the tight supply of seasoned officers and noncommissioned officers.

Many career servicemen also are becoming eligible for involuntary second tours in Vietnam because they have been away from the war zone for at least two years.

CAMBRIDGE — A workshop where King Croesus had his gold refined has been discovered at Sardis, Turkey, by members of an American archeological expedition.

The find, announced by Harvard University, was a refinery where pure gold was extracted and treated during the time when Croesus, the last king of Lydia in Asia Minor, made Sardis a byword for wealth and introduced the system of coinage into the marts of the civilized world.

The workshop was uncovered on the Pactolus torrent, which according to the historian Herodotus, was famous in antiquity for its gold-bearing sands.

NEW YORK — Teachers have voted authorization for another strike against the New York City public school system. As that new threat came, three policemen were shot and wounded Sunday night while on duty outside a school in Brooklyn's Ocean Hill-Brownsville district where teachers dismissals precipitated the strike crisis.

The wounds suffered by the three officers when a sniper fired down on them from a tenement rooftop were not considered serious. One was released from a hospital after treatment.

HOLLYWOOD — Bea Benaderet, star of the television series "Petticoat Junction," died Sunday in Good Samaritan hospital of lung cancer pneumonia.

WASHINGTON — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has reserved one hour of prime television time for next Sunday night and has invited Richard M. Nixon and George C. Wallace to share it with him in a three-way debate.

The Democratic presidential candidate and the time was reserved with the Columbia Broadcasting System from 10 to 11 p.m.

Humphrey said he needed an answer by 5 p.m. Tuesday so that arrangements can be completed. Nixon has said repeatedly he would not take part in a debate with Wallace.

'Man of La Mancha' will play here tonight

"Man of La Mancha" the unheralded musical hit that took New York by storm, as well as cities throughout the United States, Canada, and now Europe, will be presented at 8:30 p.m. today at the Keith Albee Theater.

This smash musical hit stars David Atkinson in the dual roles of Cervantes-Don Quixote, Patricia Marand as Aldonza and features such Broadway favorites as Louis Criscuolo, Seymour Penzner, Ronn Carroll, Richard Frock, Mark Ross, Lynn Carroll, Marise Counsell and Edmond Varrato.

Man of La Mancha, hailed as one of the finest and most original works in years, is a skillful combination of biography and romance. It tells of the Spanish novelist, Mique de Cervantes y Saavedra, and of the immortal character he created, Don Quixote. The story places Cervantes in the dungeons of the Inquisition and shows how he defends himself and his book in a mock trial. This he does by acting out the role of "The Knight of the Woeful Countenance."

To the charge of being "an idealist, a bad poet and an honest man," Don Quixote defends himself; he tilts at windmills, mistakes an inn for a castle where he is to be knighted; swears that a barber's basin is a golden helmet and vows devotion to a hard-bitten wench who he views as a lady of unsullied virtue.

There is a rousing score by Mitch Leight with lyrics by Joe Darion and features such musical hits as "The Impossible Dream," "Dulcinea," "Aldonza," "Man of La Mancha," "The Combat," and many others.

Dale Wasserman in discussing the success of Man of La Mancha recalls, "We opened with a sense of absolute doom, expecting to lose everything. We flaunted all kinds of rules. Convention went by the boards. We put our players on an open stage. We insisted that there be no intermission. The play makes a fervent, passionate plea for idealism and illusion, which is contrary to the philosophy that runs rampant through the theatre today — the theatre of despair and aesthetic masochism."

Eight from Marshall win in Arts Festival

Visitors to the Greater Huntington Arts Festival may have noticed some familiar names on the winning entries.

Six students, an instructor and a university administrator were prize-winners in the annual competition.

The Arts Festival, Huntington's Week of concentrated culture, is a vehicle for the visual and the performing arts.

In this year's competition, prizes were awarded in the categories of painting, sculpture drawing and prints, creative photography, commercial art and crafts.

Marshall winners were Maureen B. Milicia, instructor of speech, who won first prize in the acrylic division for her painting, "The Back Porch," and James A. Martin, Director of Information and Publications, who won first prize in commercial art for his 1968-69 Cultural Events brochure.

Student winners were John Hudkins, Scott Depot graduate student, who was awarded first prize in the mixed media category, and Miriam Stafford, Huntington junior, who won first prize in the water color division.

Charles Coffman, Huntington graduate student, was awarded first prize in the drawings category; and Clara Schlegel, Huntington graduate student, won second prize in the crafts competition.

This year the Festival added literary competition to the program.

Carl Adkins, Huntington senior won first prize in the short story competition for "Me and Mr. Lucas."

Ducat sale slated for big event

By MARGARET TYGRET
Staff Reporter

Homecoming tickets will go on sale Monday in the Student Union. Tickets for all weekend events are $8 per couple. Tickets for the Homecoming dance Saturday night are $5 per couple and for the concert alone $4 per couple.

It is questionable whether or not block seating will be available for the Homecoming dance.

"I don't see how we can reserve sections for groups in a place like the Field House," commented Susan Mead, social affairs commissioner. "The fire marshal has set a limit of 1,500 people to attend the dance, and I just don't think we can regulate seating."

The scheduled band is "The Tams". Two bands will perform for the dance Saturday night. These include "The Magnificent Men" and "The Inmen Ltd."

Although floats are not planned for Homecoming, a parade is scheduled to take place Saturday morning, provided Huntington City Council approves a parade permit in its meeting tonight.

The parade route extends down Fourth Avenue to Eighth Street and then on to Seventh Avenue.

Dignitaries in the parade will include President and Mrs. Roland H. Nelson Jr., vice president of academic affairs and Mrs. A. Mervin Tyson and vice president of business and finance and Mrs. Joseph Soto.

Others in the parade will be Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sands, Miss MAC, ROTC groups, Miss Marshall and her five attendants, and Marshall and Western Michigan cheerleaders.

Hoak to hear final readings

It's time to make yourself heard if you're interested in inter-collegiate forensics.

Dr. Eugene Hoak, professor of speech and area coordinator for forensics, urges interested students to see him at SH 251 as soon as possible.

Final tryouts for individual activities will be at 3 p.m. Thursday.

"You may use prose or poetry for your reading," said Dr. Hoak, "but do something you like and are familiar with."

According to Dr. Hoak, the first tournament is scheduled Nov. 1-2 at Appalachian State University in Boone, N.C.

The areas represented in this tournament include after-dinner speaking, broadcasting, poetry, dramatic reading and impromptu speaking. The debate squad will also compete.

The schedule is incomplete but existing plans include competition in Kentucky, Ohio, North Carolina and Arizona.

"Students who prepare themselves and qualify have the opportunity to travel to other campuses for inter-collegiate tournaments," said Dr. Hoak.

QUEEN CANDIDATE

Johanna Reynolds, Huntington freshman, is a candidate for freshman attendant to Miss Marshall. Miss Reynolds' name did not appear in the Parthenon story Friday.
